

HOME REPAIRS

Made Easier Than Ever!

You survived the hail, rain and wind, but your roof did not! A huge tree fell on your roof and now there is a very large tree sitting in your bedroom! What do you do? Look in the phone book for a tree service and roof repair person at 11 p.m. at night? Not if you are a member of HOCOA, a local home repair referral network.

Not heard of HOCOA? Well don't feel alone. This unique referral service has been in the Charlotte, NC area for many years, and has just expanded into the Atlanta area. Brenda and Jerry Lingerfelt discovered HOCOA when they were trying to get some repairs done to their home. "I needed a contractor and all I could do was call several contractors from the phone book and hope they would call me back," Brenda says.

HOCOA relieves its members from the worry and hassle of trying to contact a contractor. "Many times when you are looking for a contractor, you must leave a message with several and hope one will actually come to your home once you finally talk to him," Jerry says. "HOCOA goes to great lengths to check out each contractor involved with HOCOA — we know they are licensed, they have current insurance, and just as important, they are solid and reputable contractors who stand behind their work," Jerry continues.

If a HOCOA member needs some type of repair such as roofing, plumbing, decking, tree care, gutters, electrical, painting, heating and air, window washing, or remodeling — you name it, HOCOA has it covered. "Our members make only one phone call, to us, explaining what their needs are, and we contact the contractors," Brenda continues. This frees the member's time and ensures that they have a qualified contractor show up at their home ready to work.

The benefits of HOCOA are very clear — it is a worry-free, professional service that saves time and money for its members. The contractors associated with HOCOA are approved, experienced, licensed, and insured. Members receive 24/7 service, make one call detailing their needs, and are assured they will receive a call from a reliable, reputable contractor. When the work is completed, HOCOA follows up to ensure member satisfaction. Also, HOCOA members receive exclusive discounts for products like carpeting and flooring, and periodic promotions for other goods and services.
